

ABSTRACT OF THE DISCLOSURE

A pool cleaning implement for cleaning a submerged surface is provided that includes an implement body having a coupling shank attached thereto and an elongate pole connected
5 to the coupling shank. A fin is also connected to the implement body, such that a force generating portion of the fin is aligned along a line that is transverse to the length of the implement body, wherein the force generating portion of the fin urges the implement into contact with the submerged
10 surface in response to movement of the implement in a selected direction along the submerged surface

CLV PAS524993.1-* -10/1/03 12:16 PM